Prisma 1672 Chair

Cizeta

The Prisma seeks out its creative identity in rationality. All its geometric lines have been carefully studied to give a direct and futurist visual impact without neglecting comfort. Its special aesthetic lines express something positive and new that combines simplicity and an elevated technical design capability. The Prisma has been developed to offer the greatest freedom of choice and is available in two versions: with a low backrest for a casual context and with a headrest for greater privacy and elegance, as a proposal to furnish luxury environments. Designed in particular for contract environments and uses, the Prisma is matched to a dedicated base in wood with the possibility of various choices for greater customisation.
